England Refuses To Join In Public Works Program

U. S. DREAM SHATTERED AT PARLEY

Board of Trade President Tells Conference Cannot Join Experiments
BLOCK DISCUSSIONS
Further Steps Cannot Be Taken Because of Action of Gold Nations

LONDON, July 13.—(UP)—Great Britain today smashed the United States dream of international coordinated public works program to raise employment.

In a declaration to the economic commission of the world economic conference, Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, informed the delegates that England could not and would not join in any further experiments of this nature.

The proposal, following some lines of President Roosevelt's price-raising campaign was shattered late today—and may not be heard of again until after stabilization has been accomplished—when the commission approved a suggestion to postpone consideration of this phase of an international program.

A resolution backed by H. Colijn, of Holland, not to establish the sub-committee on public works until the monetary commission "is in a position to join in that work" effectively ended the controversy when it was passed by the commission.

It was realized that further steps cannot be taken in the present phase because the gold nations have already blocked discussions by the monetary commission. Runciman blasted at the proposals for an international works program, declaring that nothing would be gained by such an attempt.

"It is a question for each country to decide for itself," he said. "We cannot participate in any such scheme, and if we are asked to lend the money for it, the answer is in the negative."

"We spent 100,000,000 sterling," he continued, "in recent years in employing 2,000 men directly and 2,000 indirectly, and found unduly expensive. It is an experiment, and we don't intend to repeat it. We have terminated our schemes for relieving unemployment by capital expenditure, and will not reopen them whatever may happen elsewhere."

WILL ROGERS WILL ASSIST GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 13.—(UP)—A wire advising that Governor Lehman could not attend the National Governors' conference in California, sent Governor Rolph scurrying to the long distance telephone.

The governor personally asked Lehman to reconsider his decision, explaining the presence of the executive was almost indispensable.

Lehman promised the governor he would "think it over."

Coincidentally with the 19-gun salute, welcoming the governors as they cross the state line midnight of July 22, there will be a barrage of wisecracks from Will Rogers, famous humorist. Rogers will accompany the governor to Calaveras on the state line to greet the visiting executives.

CULBERTSON BRIDGE VISIT TO FRANCE CLOSING IN ROW

PARIS, July 13.—(UP)—Ely Culbertson's good will bridge visit to France followed the course of the World Economic conference and ended in a row.

A referee's error caused Culbertson's American team to play the same hand twice toward the end of its three-day match against the French team last night.

Playing the French play-fond variation, the French and American teams had zig zagged in the lead all the way. Last night with but six hands to go American No. 1 team played a hand against the French No. 1 team. Under the rules the hands should have been reversed when they were sent into another room of the fashionable George V hotel for the No. 2 teams to play. By a referee's error the American No. 2 team got the same hand that had been played by the No. 1 team. It was a good one, and they won the game, putting the Americans ahead.

When the error was discovered, the 300 bridge fans watching the play, including the tennis players Suzanne Lenglen and Wilmer Allison, gathered in excited groups resembling those on the floor of a stock market and talked it over. Shoulders were shrugged and hands waved. Culbertson and Pierre Bellander, French captain, argued loudly.

Talk became louder, and it was 2½ hours before the argument ended in a decision to award the points the American No. 2 team gained by error to the French side.

The next hand was being dealt when the row broke out again, and the referees called it a draw. The scores stood: France 31,244 points, America 31,050.

The 5000 francs stakes were given to charity. Mrs. Culbertson gave a dinner in honor of the French players and everyone seemed content.

John Factor Is Released By Kidnapers

"Jake the Barber" Turned Out of Automobile at Midnight Famished

CHICAGO, July 13.—(UP)—Barely able to mumble the details of his captivity, Factor, internationally notorious financier, returned to his luxurious hotel today.

The dapper broker's face was black with a matted growth of beard. His features were haggard and weary. His eyes were bloodshot and he constantly shielded them from the light, explaining he had been blindfolded ever since his abduction July 1 from a northwest side roadhouse.

His steady nerves, cool even when he traded millions of dollars in La Salle street brokerage dealings, were shattered and jumpy. He was repeatedly threatened with death by machine guns, one at his breast and another at his back, he said, and on other occasions the kidnapers threatened to cut off his ears with scissors which they snapped close to his head.

Factor was released late last night in La Grange, a suburb 15 miles west of Chicago.

When asked if any money was

Rattlesnake Is Cause Of Auto Accident

BISBEE, Ariz., July 13.—(UP)—A five foot rattlesnake was blamed today for the accident in which an automobile driven by Mark Strubel, Cleveland, O., dairyman, overturned on the highway near Tombstone, slightly injured.

The snake, according to motorists who rendered aid, frightened a cow standing at the roadside, causing it to jump in the path of Strubel's machine. He swerved to avoid hitting the cow and the car overturned.

Strubel suffered cuts about the head, body bruises and a broken leg. His wife and young son, Alexander, were slightly hurt. The snake was killed.

Real Change For Better Noted Here

Survey Reveals All Lines of Business in City on Upward Grade

SANTA ANA HAS a recovery program of its own well under way, it was learned today in a survey made of business conditions which revealed that conditions here are definitely and consistently better than even a few months ago.

Everything is better; business, banking, industry, postal receipts, building permits, construction, real estate activity and most important, public confidence and spirit has shown a decided improvement.

The gains are evident materially in Santa Ana. This is based on actual figures and statements from prominent men in a position to know the facts. The picture of optimism is not inspired by hopes but by actuality.

Take postal receipts for instance, used extensively by economists as a barometer of business conditions. For the postal quarter which just ended, the Santa Ana postoffice showed a steady and definite increase. Receipts for the quarter aggregated $35,532 as compared with $31,382, for the same quarter in 1932, a gain of $2,149. Receipts for June of this year surpassed both the previous month and the same month last year. Last month they were $11,978 as compared with $11,379 for May, a gain of $599. The gain over the same month last year was large, amounting to $2140.

Falls 2 Stories But Refuses Hospital Aid

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—(UP)—Hospitals and armics are sissy measures, designed for an effete generation.

Mrs. Emily Alexandria woke up this morning, noticed a stiffness in her bedroom and went to open a window. She lost her balance, and tumbled two stories to the ground.

Frightened neighbors telephoned police. Mrs. Alexandria summoned Dr. John Kirkpatrick from his home nearby. He examined her and found a bruised shoulder. Meanwhile with a great screaming of sirens, an ambulance drew up.

"Nonsense!" said Mrs. Alexandria and waved the ambulance away.

TRADE HEAVY AND TICKERS FALL BEHIND

"Wet" Stocks Move Up Sensationally; American Alcohol Up 16 Points
WHEAT CLOSES OFF
Rails, Rubbers, Utilities and Sugars Spurt When Special Issues Advance

NEW YORK, July 13.—(UP)—Sensational advances in special issues brought the stock market into substantially higher ground today.

Volume was heavy and sales were around 7,000,000 shares for the day.

The dollar was steady, slightly lower in terms of sterling and slightly higher in terms of the French franc. Bonds were higher in active turnover, featured by rails and speculative issues notably the convertibles. Cotton held a small gain, while grains eased off with wheat closing at net losses of more than a cent a bushel.

Alcohol shares featured the early dealings. American Commercial Alcohol touched 80½, up 15½ points; U. S. Industrial Alcohol 95 5/8, up 6½ points; and National Distillers 119, up 5. All were new highs. Wide gains ranging to 8 points were run up by other members of the "wet" group including Crown Cork & Seal, Commercial Solvents, and Owens-Illinois Glass.

The leaders in the industrial division made the best showing of any recent session. United States Steel featured, rising to a new high since 1931 at 66 3/4, up 2 points from the previous close.

American Telephone made a new high for the year at 134 3/4, up 4 7/8. American Can also bettered its high for the year, selling at 97 1/2, up 4 3/4 points. Youngtown Sheet and Tube, Bethlehem and Republic showed gains ranging to 2 points.

J. I. Case crossed 100 in early trading but lost part of the gain when the grain market reacted.

Demand was heavy for other commodity shares. Silvers soared with silver futures on the National Metal exchange. Rubber shares were carried up sharply as rubber futures made gains ranging to 100 points or more. Prospects of a rise in tire prices stimulated buying of rubber stocks and of rubber futures.

DRY CHIEFS TO CLAIMS HITLER DECIDE REPEAL IS MEMBER OF ACTION FRIDAY

Board of Strategy May Ask Higher Court Set Aside Adverse Decision

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—(UP)—The board of strategy of Southern California prohibitionists will meet, possibly tomorrow, to decide whether the fight will be continued to block the state's ratification of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, it was learned today.

Attorneys Richard K. Gandy and E. Neal Ames said they expected to know within a few days whether they would ask the court of appeals to set aside the ruling of Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson, denying a permanent injunction to enjoin the Los Angeles county board of supervisors from canvassing the June 27 election vote. Application for the injunction was filed by the Rev. Frank G. H. Stevens, Santa Monica minister, and Richard M. Cannon, son of Bishop James Cannon Jr., noted dry crusader, who attacked constitutionality of the election.

"We have 60 days in which to appeal," Ames said. "Grounds for such an appeal are contained in the fact that inasmuch as no state or federal officers are to be filled by the convention delegates elected, the vote in reality constituted a referendum, which is unconstitutional in such cases. We expect to be given instructions to appeal the decision after the dry leaders confer this week."

Results of the county vote are expected to be certified with the secretary of state by Saturday, election officials said.

VIENNA NEWSPAPER ASSERTS IT HAS DOCUMENTS TO PROVE CHARGES

A sensation was caused today by publication in the newspaper Oesterreichische Abendblatt of charges that Adolf Hitler, Nazi chancellor of Germany and sworn foe of Jews, is a Jew himself.

EXPECT RETURN OF KIDNAPED MAN SOON

ALBANY, N. Y., July 13.—(UP)—Immediate developments in the O'Connell kidnapping case were anticipated today as Edward J. and Daniel P. O'Connell, leaders of the powerful upstate Democratic machine, went into complete seclusion to allow their underworld contacts to negotiate the freedom of their nephew, John J. O'Connell Jr., 24.

The two bosses and the youth's father were silent, obviously frightened by threats the kidnapers would kill the captive if police or newspapers became too active. A crowd from the brothers who control all Albany political patronage from top to bottom had its effect on police. Clearly little or nothing was being done by local authorities.

PRESIDENT MAY ISSUE APPEAL TO GOVERNORS

May Seek Revision of State Laws Conflicting With Recovery Act

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(UP)—President Roosevelt was understood today to be considering an appeal to state governors for revision of state laws which now are in conflict with the national recovery act.

The problem has arisen in connection with legal difficulties, including the possibility of court action, which face the administration's efforts to restore purchasing power through speedy application of the recovery act.

Some 16 or 17 states have laws which prohibit some of the practices permissible under the industrial recovery act. These laws relate to price fixing, controlled production and other practices which would be allowed under relaxation of the Sherman anti-trust law as provided in the recovery act.

Attorney General McKittrick of Missouri with other state officials has discussed the question with

REPEAL CAMPAIGNS IN SOUTH NEAR END

ATLANTA, Ga., July 13.—(UP)—Wet and dry campaigns in three southern states that ballot on prohibition repeal next week entered their final phase today.

Alabama and Arkansas will elect state convention delegates Tuesday. Tennessee votes two days later.

Both wets and dries have well organized forces and are conducting intensive speaking campaigns.

Aided by excellent flying conditions, the planes left the water rapidly in groups, and all were in the air 35 minutes after Balbo took off. The flight to Shediac will cover 800 miles across Belle Isle Strait and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

STOCK ISSUES ADVANCE TODAY AS DAY ACTIVE

Gains to new highs for the year in sugar futures brought gains of 1 to 5 points in the sugar market with particular demand in American, Great Western and South Porto Rico.

Utilities, which had lagged for several days, were given a whirl. Consolidated Gas rose nearly 3 points and gains of 1 to more than 2 points were noted in Columbia Gas, North American, Public Service of New Jersey, and Standard Gas & Electric.

Western Union continued to profit by its favorable earnings statement for the first five months of 1933. It soared to a new high for the year at 75 1/2, up 6 1/2 points. Postal Telegraph preferred was in fair demand at a one-point gain.

Among the issues to gain 3 to 5 points were Air Reduction, American Water Works, Auburn Auto, Columbian Carbon, Du Pont, International Silver, United Aircraft and Monsanto Chemical.

Dealings were heavy throughout the session and tickers were late most of the time. Blocks of 500 to 15,000 shares were common. Radio Corporation was heavily dealt in around the previous close of 11. Near the close a block of 10,000 shares of the issue sold at that price. Prices held well and many of the issues closed around the best levels of the day despite profit taking.

Sales totaled 7,450,000 shares, a

PRESIDENT MAY ISSUE APPEAL TO GOVERNORS

the president and with industrial administrator Hugh S. Johnson.

The Missouri state law prevents foreign corporations from entering into price fixing agreements or agreements to curtail production.

Revision of state laws to eliminate this conflict may be necessary, in the opinion of administrators of the recovery act. To carry this out speedily Mr. Roosevelt was understood to be planning to ask governors of states where the problem is particularly acute to call their legislatures into special session for this purpose. The president may act through the Governors' association, it was learned.

Possibility of court action cast a shadow over preparations to put the program into effect in the cotton textile trade.

Administrator Hugh Johnson proceeded with the draft of a plan under which the government may attempt to bring all industries under a temporary and voluntary agreement to shorter hours and raise wages pending completion of individual codes. This plan still is vague and tentative. Whether it is attempted appears to depend largely on the rapidly with which major industries come forward with specific codes.

It was learned that considerable detail still is to be worked out before the cotton textile code, approved by the president and scheduled to go into effect July 17, can be applied.

Together with the problems still remaining to be adjusted before the higher wages and shorter working hours become an actuality was a threat that some sections of the industry would endeavor to obtain further delay by court injunction.

John C. Gall, associate counsel of the National Manufacturers' association, denied reports that that group was preparing a court test.

Opportunity for residents of Santa Ana to see the girls entered in the contest for queen of the Fiesta del Oro, to be staged on July 27, 28 and 29, will be furnished Saturday when a big parade of contestants will be staged at 2:30 p. m., it was announced today.

The parade will not be confined to Santa Ana, but will move through all principal cities of the county. Each contestant will be "enthroned" in a special automobile.

Among the 40 pretty contestants is the girl who will reign as queen over the fiesta and who will win a trip to the Chicago Century of Progress exposition. Ten of the attractive girls will be chosen to be members of the queen's court.

Plans are in progress, according to William Ruth, chairman of the Legion drum corps committee in charge of the contest, to have "Ted Collins" band head the parade. Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard will act as marshal of the parade in charge of traffic and regulations.

The committee plans to stay away from any entries in the parade propelled by motor, the idea being to bring out the spirit of the Fiesta by using stage coaches, chuck wagons and other old vehicles.

RAILROAD DEATH IS HELD ACCIDENTAL

Funeral services for Vincente Rodriguez, 77, Fullerton resident who met his death Monday when struck by a train near Pomona camp, were held this morning from the St. Mary's Catholic church in Fullerton.

Rodriguez was found to have come to his death from accidental causes at the inquest held yesterday at the McAulay and Suters Funeral home. Evidence was presented to the jury that the Mexican walked into the path of the gasoline motor coach operated by the Santa Fe railroad and was instantly killed when struck by the vehicle.

The Rev. Mortimer Murphy, priest of the church, officiated at the services today and interment was made in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery near Irvine park. Rodriguez had lived at Pomona camp for five years and is survived by his widow and seven children, four sons and three daughters.

NEW COUNTY LIQUOR LAW IS ENFORCED

Orange county's new "Little Volstead Act," adopted yesterday by the board of supervisors, was responsible for the arrest yesterday and conviction today of Howard D. Mann, 38, Costa Mesa farmer, who was given a term of 90 days in the county jail when he appeared this morning before Judge D. J. Dodge of Costa Mesa on possession of liquor charges.

Only a few hours after the urgency measure of the supervisors went into effect, Sheriff Logan Jackson and Undersheriff C. W. Riggall had placed Mann behind the bars of the jail. He was surprised in his cutting plant at home and nearly 100 gallons of assorted whiskey and intoxicating liquor was confiscated.

Mann was operating his plant when the officers arrived and pleaded guilty to the possession charges today. Among the equipment and evidence secured was a 25 gallon barrel of whiskey, a five gallon bottle of whiskey, one case of 24 pints, and other bottles or wine, gin and whiskey.

JOHN FACTOR IS RELEASED BY KIDNAPERS

A ransom of $200,000 was paid, the United Press understood from a reliable source. The original demand was for $150,000, but when first negotiations collapsed, the amount was increased.

During his captivity, Factor said, he was held at what he believed was a farmhouse, a drive of about an hour and a half from La Grange.

"I'm sure it was a farmhouse because I could hear roosters crowing and noises of cows and other livestock," Factor said. Shortly after 5 o'clock last night he was taken from the house and placed in a car. At a busy intersection in La Grange he was pushed from the automobile, still blindfolded. The kidnapers gave him directions to the La Grange police station, two blocks distant, and sped away.

Factor tore the bandage from his eyes and staggered to the sidewalk. Scarcely able to walk, he attracted the attention of two policemen. They took him to headquarters and notified his family. He declined food but asked for a drink of whiskey. Police were unable to provide it.

When he arrived in Chicago, he was met by his wife and his son, Jerome, 19, who was victim of kidnapers less than three months ago.

Despite Factor's dirty and unkempt appearance, Mrs. Factor embraced him repeatedly. His son supported him and addressed him affectionately as "Dad."

INDIAN CAMP SUGGESTED FOR COUNTY PARK

Forty members of the Kiwanis club returned this morning from an overnight camping trip to Santiago Peak, better known as Old Saddleback. The party left yesterday afternoon and made the trip by automobile caravan, reaching the lookout station on the peak at about 6 o'clock.

Grilled steak dinner was served by J. T. Raitt and W. W. Hoy, chief cooks, assisted by O. Haan, Orlyn Robertson, Roy George and Dr. Emmett G. Raitt. The same committee was in charge of serving breakfast.

On the trip up to the peak the motorcade stopped at the old Indian camp ground in Black Star canyon while Terry Stephenson told the story of William Wolfskill's battle with Indian horse thieves in 1832 at the camp ground and other historic facts about the area.

After dinner was served O. H. Barr, program chairman for the club acted as master of ceremonies and called on several members of the party for short talks.

Botanist Talks

Dr. Carl Wolf, head of the Suisun Bikey Bryant Botanical Gardens, identified specimens of mountain shrubs and flowers gathered on the trip to the peak and told some of the work being done at the garden under his direction.

County Highway Superintendent Net Neff spoke on the scenic beauties of the mountain area and suggested that a monument be started to make the Old Indian Camp Ground a county park.

A. M. Longacre, United States Ranger in charge of the Cleveland National Forest, described work being done in the forests by the Civilian Conservation Corps and said that this year the national forests have the nearest to an ideal fire protection organization that has ever functioned in the history of the forests. The civilian corps is used for this work in addition to other work in the forests. He also told the methods used in fighting forest fires and described the organization of the civilian corps for this work.

Suggests Peak Name

P. C. Everett, lookout on Santiago Peak spoke briefly describing his duties and life on the peak of Orange county's highest mountain from June 1, until the first heavy rain each year.

Terry Stephenson, called upon for a talk stressed the future value to the county of a county park at the Indian camp and urged that one peak near Saddleback be named Pleasant peak instead of its present designation as Sugarloaf peak. Stephenson said that already there are two other peaks in southern California known as Sugarloaf and it would be fitting to name Orange county's peak for J. C. Pleasant who has lived in the mountains since 1860.

The party arose at 4 o'clock this morning and saw the sun rise from the lookout tower and left for the return trip at 6:30 a. m.

HARRY LEWIS PLANS ORDERED HURT AS CAR FOR $125,000 HIT BY TRAIN BEACH SCHOOL

Severe head injuries were suffered by Harry Lewis, 1770 East Fourth street, prominent walnut grower and traveler, when his car was struck and badly damaged by a southbound Santa Fe passenger train at the crossing on East Fourth street at 10 o'clock this morning.

Lewis was taken home following the crash and later removed to a doctor's office to have the wounds on his head treated. He was cut by flying glass but received no other injuries when his car was thrown off the tracks and nearly demolished.

According to E. S. Graneton, conductor of the train, and two witnesses of the accident, both wigwag signals were operating and the train whistled for the crossing. Lewis was driving west on Fourth street and was nearly across the tracks when the slowly moving train crashed into the rear of his large sedan. The former crossing gates were removed several months ago and the only warning device now is the wigwag signal.

J. J. Dyer, 1035 East First street, Santa Fe foreman, and M. J. League, Southern Pacific ticket agent, were near the crossing and saw the wreck. They said that the train stopped within two car lengths and that Lewis apparently did not realize the train was approaching the crossing.

Lewis was able to get out of his car and walk to the machine shop of a friend. An ambulance from the Winigler Funeral home was called but was not needed. The injured man wished to be taken home to be examined by his son, Dr. Ralph Lewis, who is visiting with his father. After being given first aid treatment for the scalp wounds, the gashes were stitched and treated by a physician.

The buildings will be leased to the school board until the loan is amortized. Construction work will start as soon as the buildings are razed and the funds available.

Schools will be started in the fall with classes in the gymnasium building, which escaped injury in the quake, and with seventh and eighth grade classes meeting in the high school.

NEW SWIMMING CLASSES OPEN AT Y. M. C. POOL

A swimming class for women and older girls and one for young boys are the special offerings for next week at the Y. M. C. A.

So many requests have come in for a class for women that D. H. Tibbels, who is giving the instruction, has consented to undertake such a class, beginning next Tuesday. The demand for lessons for boys also continues insistent, with the result that the new class is to be offered.

The new class for young boys will be limited to 15, and it will start Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Registrations are now in order, and may be made by telephoning the Y. M. C. A. office. The charge for these lessons is 15 cents per boy per lesson.

The class for women and older girls will have its first session on Tuesday morning at 10:15, and this class will be limited to 12 members. A small charge is made. Registrations should be made at once to insure places in the list. Tibbels claims a new record for his class of young girls who are just now completing their course of instruction. He has a group of 20 girls who started as beginners last week, and who have been taking lessons daily. Today every girl in the class is able to float, and all but two or three are really swimming. Many are now learning to dive. By Saturday morning, when the girls are to give an exhibition in the pool for their parents, Tibbels expects every one of them to be able to swim across the pool, this distance of 30 feet being the assignment for the beginners, while a number of them will swim the 60 feet length of the pool, and some will be able to dive successfully.

Swimming has been unusually popular at the Y. M. C. A. this summer, and excellent results have been attained in the instruction for beginners.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resists substitution. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Young Cowboy Starts Trip To See World

Proudly attired in his cowboy suit and protected with a toy pistol in a leather holster, a little six-year-old lad set out to see the world yesterday—via the hitch-hike method.

Passing motorists were amused to see the little tike thumbing for a ride on South Main street near Bishop. Someone might have given him a lift to the wide open spaces. But a considerate policeman happened along about then and took him back home, less than a block away.

A wee bit disappointed that his journey should end in a police car, the youngster promised his dad he'd stay at home and confine his exploring to the back yard.

REPORT MORE PATIENTS ON HOSPITAL LIST

BY THOMAS B. MALARKY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, July 13.—(UP)—California's county hospital bill is shooting upward with amazing rapidity.

A sharp increase in the number of county hospital patients was disclosed today in a report of the state department of social welfare. The report revealed there were 135,743 persons treated in these institutions during 1931-32.

During the previous fiscal year there were 91,509 sick and injured persons who received medical attention in the county hospitals. Thus the increase is 44,243 patients.

The Orange county hospital had 3142 patients during the fiscal year 1931-32, in the preceding year 2672 patients were treated.

"The report pointed out that deaths outnumbered births in county hospitals in 1931-32. Deaths totaled 12,581 as compared with 8800 in the previous fiscal year.

Births in county hospitals totaled 9972 in 1931-32 as compared with 8687 in the previous fiscal year. During 1931-32, a total of 6257 persons were given sanity examinations in the county hospitals.

Safety Rules Of Goodrich Driver Contest Quoted

Fifteen rules of safety will be followed by truck and bus drivers enrolled in The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company Safety Award campaign, sponsored in Santa Ana by Goodrich Silvertown Inc., Goodrich truck and bus tire distributor located at First and Broadway.

"The rules are based on safety and courtesy, adherence to which will brand any operator as a believer in highway safety," Orval Lyon, manager, says.

The rules are:
1. To be courteous. To consider the privileges and rights of others at all times.
2. To drive at speeds in keeping with the safety of others as well as myself.

3. To keep my mind on my job and always be ready for an emergency. They seldom give warning.

4. If there is any doubt, to give the other fellow the right-of-way. My life is more important.

5. To keep to the right except when passing. I will not be a road hog.

6. Never to pass another vehicle on a hill curve, bridge, railroad crossing or any point where the view is obstructed.

7. To slow down at crossings, intersections, schools and other dangerous places.

8. To observe road markings, traffic signals and warnings.

9. To be careful especially where there are pedestrians.

10. To signal always before turning or stopping and look out for the car behind as well as the car ahead.

11. To drive only when in full possession of my faculties.

12. To watch the car ahead and keep my stopping distance at all times.

13. Not to depend on my horn alone. To stop if in doubt.

14. To be sure my brakes, lights, horn and tires are in good condition.

15. To operate my vehicle on tires which assure a positive grip on the road—safe traction and freedom from hazardous tire failures.

WIFE VICTOR IN CONTESTED DIVORCE SUIT

Evidence given in the courtroom from the witness stand to the effect that the defendant had been rather fond of the company of various women, yesterday afternoon won a decree of divorce for Mrs. Eva Vaughan, 525 East Washington, against her husband, Howard S. Vaughan. In addition to real estate and personal property held in the name of the couple, the plaintiff was awarded $40 a month for support of herself and a minor daughter. The Vaughans were married March 10, 1915, at Great Falls, Mont., and separated last May. Mrs. Vaughan charged cruelty.

The trial, held before Superior Judge James L. Allen, was marked by sensational testimony regarding alleged relations of the defendant with different women.

Vaughan, taking the stand, asserted his alleged visits to the homes of various women were business calls in connection with the operation of his auto rental place. He denied the imputations made against him from the witness stand. Questioned by Attorney L. A. West, counsel for plaintiff, as to his sources of income, he had to admit that his mother-in-law had been rather liberal when it came to handing out good-sized checks.

EXECUTORS OF MILLION DOLLAR ESTATE SUED

Alleging that W. Carl Spencer and Empsie Freeman, executor and executrix of the million-dollar estate of the late Mrs. Fanny Bixby Spencer, who died about three years ago, have failed to carry out the provisions of the will left by the decedent, Mrs. Bertha A. Ewell, named in the will, today filed suit against the administrators asking for payment of $8280, alleged to be due the plaintiff.

According to the complaint, which also names the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles as a defendant, the provisions of the will, among other things, directed that the executor should deposit a sum in the Long Beach branch of the Security First National Bank, sufficient to provide for the care of Julian Brown, Betty Brown, Dorothy Christiansen, and Carl Bixby Sadler, at Mrs. Ewell's home at the rate of $60 a month for each of the children.

The will further directed that Carl Bixby Sadler should receive special care, and that his allowance after reaching high school age should be increased to $100 a month, as long as he lived with Mrs. Ewell, the complaint added. The plaintiff charges that although in position to do so, the executor failed to carry out the aforesaid provision until February of this year. The amount asked by the plaintiff is for care and maintenance of the children from the time of the death of Mrs. Fanny Bixby Spencer until the money was placed in the bank.

ROOSEVELT ORDER CURBS JOB HUNTERS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's executive order requiring all postmasters appointed in the future to take civil service examinations was expected today to curb much of the plum tree shaking by political job hunters.

Mr. Roosevelt simultaneously revealed that civil service workers who have been discharged in the last four months because of governmental economy would be given the preference in making appointments to the new emergency agencies.

The president's sudden postmaster order blasted hopes of many patronage hunters, who have been jockeying the steps of Postmaster General Farley. All applications for the 15,000 first, second and third class postmasters hereafter must take written civil service examinations.

WARNING SENT TO STATE CONTRACTORS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 13.—(UP)—Twenty-two thousand California contractors were warned today against clever racketeers who are reaping a heavy profit at the expense of the state's builders.

"A group of men masquerading as inspectors for this department are working at the collection of mythical special license fees from state licensed contractors," Carlos W. Huntington, state registrar of contractors, explained.

"These imposters have just transferred operations from Marin county into San Francisco. They will undoubtedly shift rapidly. Our inspectors hope to apprehend them shortly."

Huntington said bona fide inspectors will show positive identification. "Anyone contacted by these crooked swindlers should first call police," Huntington advised. "Then he should notify this department."

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT REVIVAL MEET

Evangelistic meetings now being conducted by the Church of Christ at Fairview and Birch streets with Evangelist Ernest Beam of Long Beach delivering the addresses is being attended by large audiences nightly. "We shall know each other in the world over there," the speaker said in his address last night.

"The spirit in man is a distinct entity and does not depend upon the body for existence. Jesus spoke of those who could destroy the body but not injure the soul. He spoke of everlasting punishments as well as of eternal life. Both call for eternal spirits. And so we must be alive somewhere in eternity," the speaker said.

"Abraham knew the rich man and Lazarus and these knew each other. Moses and Elijah were immediately recognized by James, Cephas and John. David said he would go to his child though the child could not return to him. All of this argues for knowing each other there."

Tonight the evangelist spoke of the "Wrong Place of Baptism in Salvation." The meetings are free to the public and will continue nightly this week. An added feature of the meeting is a Bible drill for all children.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

SNIPING
There is reason to believe that much of the unfavorable news recently concerning General Johnson and the Industrial Recovery Administration is propaganda. Industrialists with private axes to grind have been sniping at the setup.

Washington representatives of this and that interest have been circulating among newspapermen of late. It is they who are whispering Johnson has been hamstrung by the President. It was they who promoted the story that Secretaries Roper and Ickes have the final say.

More is behind the proposed code of the retail dry goods group than appears on the surface.

This announced formula — as yet unrepresented officially — is rated as the thin opening wedge whereby opposition interests hope to undermine NIRA for campaign purposes.

The joker lies in the proposed 48-hour week. Such a working span shows apparently direct opposition to the Act's purpose.

Department store owners say they must work their employees eight hours a day and six days a week. If the Recovery Administration concurs it will have established a precedent that will make short-hour agreements difficult in other industries.

Many of the biggest department stores are owned by banking money. They have had a thin time of two past years. There is a fine lot of figures to show they need to keep expenses down. Others are in the black only by the closest kind of management.

Is it possible that word has been passed quietly to these harassed ones to test the effectiveness of industrial control? G. O. P. leaders have been whispering the Act has flaws that will produce splendid material for next year's Congressional campaign.

HOURS
Senator Wagner of New York, who helped write the Act, is said to be up in arms over the effort to get a 48-hour week across. He has battled long and hard for the theory of shorter hours in industry as a means of spreading employment.

You probably will hear from him when the long hour boys bring their code to Washington for an administration blessing.

And he's only one. Organized labor will be girded for the fray.

DYNAMITE
The London Conference is sitting on a first-class cache of dynamite.

A spark in the wrong direction may set war drums beating in central Europe. Everything depends on what happens when and if France goes off the gold standard, and how the elections in Austria come out.

When Caesar said all Gaul was divided in three parts he was speaking for the book. Today it's still Paris and environs against the north and south of France.

Paris produces men for the general staff, bankers and manufacturers of war munitions. The other two parts produce the men who become cannon fodder in time of war.

The present French government is conservative socialist. Not itching for a scrap at the moment and more to the liking of the provinces.

When France sheds the gold standard—and she probably will—an election is almost inevitable.

If the Right should come in anything might happen. The militarists and industrialists claim to have heard rumblings from Germany that, in two more years of grace, she can whip France. They are countering with propaganda that they could invade the Rhine within the next six months and flatten Germany for all time.

The peasants wouldn't care much for war now or later. But war undeniably makes cannon factories rich and lets generals play at their favorite sport.

NAZIS
Over in Austria the existing regime is battling the Nazis unto death. For its principal support the Austrian government has the Catholic church.

If the Nazis can win the forthcoming election—and there are indications this will happen — a highly potent situation will be created.

The Austrian is essentially a Teuton. If he votes Hitler, look out for the mobilization of a Nazi army under German officers.

All aimed against France.

It is considerations such as these that are giving the London delegates nightmares.

Action in or out of the Conference ostensibly dealing with pure economics might be the match that would again kindle Europe an ugly red.

That is the reason you read of so many secret conferences between delegations and individuals. That is what shapes so many of the Roosevelt decisions.

ANECDOTES

Franklin Roosevelt Jr. was telling a lot of anecdotes at a White House luncheon table the other day.

They had to do with the experiences of the two press boats that followed his father and him on their recent cruise up the North Shore.

Young Franklin told with gusto how one boat was manned by the "regulars" from the White House press room while the other accommodates the "prima donnas."

His sister, Mrs. Anna Dill, kicked him under the table several times but the recent Grotton graduates persisted to the bitter end. His sympathies seemed to be all with the "regulars."

To one side of him sat the wife of one of the "prima donnas."

LOANS
Uncle Sam ought to hang out three balls. He's a pretty good money lender, according to a current balance of the domestic books. (We won't mention foreign loans.)

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation's personal books show slightly over one-half of one per cent in overdue payments from its emergency advances to all types of business, industry and local government.

A banker would tell you this was nice business. Particularly when collateral is held in all past-due cases that could be foreclosed.

The R. F. C. doesn't want to grab collateral of course. That wouldn't help business.

The Board of Directors will stand on a record of more than two and a quarter billion dollars disbursed with collections as promised of nearly a quarter of that amount.

CAR
Look out for President Roosevelt next month when he gets to Hyde Park.

He has a brand new touring car for use in and around his family estate on the Hudson.

It was brought down to the White House the other day. The President tried it out in the south grounds. The car is equipped with a special left-hand control for brake and clutch.

"Guess I'll have to have these driveways straightened out," he said. "I can't make any speed with all these sharp curves."

NOTES
The administration doesn't like the way Japan is tossing goods on our markets. . . . The Japs can lay a pair of sneakers down here for 12 1/2 cents. . . . Or a pair of rubber boots for 25 cents. . . . Over in Nippon the government has completely changed the standard of living, our experts say. . . . If you don't pay any wages you can afford to sell cheap over almost any kind of a tariff wall. . . . Consider the trouble of Commander in Chief Fehner of the Forest Army. . . . He just got a report from a conservation camp outside of Los Angeles that a dog which came into camp and was befriended by the boys bit 41 depression choppers before he was killed. . . . An autopsy showed rabies. . . . Washington is awaiting outcome of the Pasteur treatment. . . . And worrying about one report which said: "Dog bit man at station house in blue pants. Can you locate?"

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

UTILITIES
The Morgan utility group hasn't been the same since the Washington hearing. Its component units are drifting apart. Hook-ups based on Morgan prestige without financial control have lost their binding force.

Few financial empires have disintegrated so quickly. From the Insull crash until recently the Morgans have nominated the utility field. They don't any more. Instead there are several powerful groups that can now be called independent. No one of them alone is strong enough to rule the others.

Exposure of clay feet by Pecora convinced certain utility executives they had their wagon hitched to a cold star. Past favors were forgotten. They decided they could do better on their own. The idols—as well as the Ides — of March have gone.

The results of this shift will not be outwardly apparent for some time. The separate groups will probably fight the New Deal as applied to utilities more strenuously than they would have under the Morgan banner. But they lack a recognized leader so their resistance will be less effective.

MORGAN
Rumors have been thicker than pea soup about Morgan's trading its deposits to the First National Bank in exchange for First National's security affiliate. They have even been dignified by publication in local newspapers.

You can take a whole salt mine with that one. Deposits are liabilities and no one ever had much luck trying to trade liabilities for assets. The prediction in this column that Morgan's will stick to deposit banking is likely to be confirmed before long.

The rumor may have been inspired to confuse the competition.

AVIATION
Pan-American isn't kidding about starting a commercial trans-Atlantic airplane route. It has already obtained rights to land at Bermuda and the Azores. Tentative plans call for collaboration with Imperial Airways — perhaps flying alternate schedules.

Col. Lindbergh's expedition to Greenland is so publicly stung. The company is anxious to learn whether the northern route might be preferable to the southern for normal service. At present the southern route has the call.

A problem still unsolved is the question of an American terminal. New York, Baltimore and Charleston are all under serious consideration. New York's advantages as a metropolis may be offset by conditions of fog and ice which would make winter service difficult.

Two large experimental seaplanes—Martin and Sikorsky—each to carry 50 passengers are being built. They are due to be tested this winter. The company expects to start regular commercial flights before the end of 1934.

Pan-American has gone even farther afield in one direction. It already owns and operates a line in China.

INVESTMENT
Rockefeller interests are gunning for investment trust leadership in a big way. The latest move is the acquisition of about 30 per cent voting interest in United Founders—once the biggest of them all—through David Milton. This voting interest is tantamount to working control.

The United Founders trailer is much more important than the Equity Corporation truck. Its assets still amount to $50,000,000 as against $7,000,000 for the Equity group. United owns six subsidiary investment trusts.

Insiders whisper that Milton has only just begun. What with Rockefeller and Atlas interests both showing avid appetites, few independent trusts will be able to sleep in peace any more.

The investment trusts were rather pleased with their June 30 financial statements—which actually did show marked improvement—until three days later. Then they moaned to high heaven about their bad luck because they couldn't show the additional benefits of two days more of sprightly bullishness.

BANKS
The Central Hanover is the first big local bank besides the Chase to make its investment banking directors walk the plank. Five of them—including Clarence Dillon of Dillon, Read—have been quietly chucked overboard without benefit of hands. The Hanover is now down to its Glass Act quota of 25 directors. The Guaranty Trust, Bankers' Trust and New York Trust still display their Morgan firm directors with pride.

The June 30 statements of New York banks show that a high degree of liquidity is still rated desirable. The percentage of cash and government securities to deposits is as large as ever. The Morgan banks as usual lead the parade in their liquidity ratio. It is 72 per cent for the Bankers' Trust, 60 per cent for the Guaranty Trust and 68 per cent for the New York Trust. Among the non-Morgan banks Irving Trust shows 66 per cent, National City 51 per cent and Chase National 40 per cent.

FIESTA DEL ORO MANAGER CLUB SPEAKER

NEWPORT BEACH, July 13.—Cooperation being practiced by Newport harbor district and Santa Ana in staging the 25th annual Tournament of Lights and the second annual Fiesta del Oro, respectively, was cited as one of the best things that have happened in Orange county for years by John Wilcox, manager of the Fiesta del Oro, in a talk at last night's meeting of the Newport Harbor Service club at the American Legion clubhouse.

Wilcox brought with him Ralph McCutcheon, assistant in the Fiesta del Oro, who told of the float to be entered on behalf of Santa Ana in the lights pageant July 22, also Monty Montana, expert rope-swinging cowboy who will be one of the performers at the rodeo to be staged in connection with the Santa Ana fete.

The Fiesta del Oro entry in the water parade will be on a boat now at anchor in the bay, Skip-Jack II, and on it will appear, among others, the Spanish singers and dancers headed by Sol Gonzales, whose float, representing Mexico, won the grand sweepstakes in the illumination carnival last year.

Wilcox told of the three-day program for the fiesta, which will start with a mammoth outdoor breakfast Thursday morning, July 27, and end with a big show at the enlarged Santa Ana stadium Saturday evening, July 29. He said that the object is to bring back something of the early days of California, and that it will be an Orange county celebration, not belonging merely to Santa Ana.

The Tournament of Lights was praised as an annual event that has grown with the years, and the Fiesta del Oro management was glad to be able to cooperate with the lights pageant.

Arch Dixon of Huntington Beach, who has become associated with Frank Chexum in business here, also lauded the Newport harbor district, and said he was glad to come here. S. H. Davidson, new president, was in the chair.

Twenty-one states have names of Indian origin.

Men smile at my simple reasoning

Whenever the subject of cigarettes comes up, I sit back quietly and let the men explain about the "Toasting" process. Then, if they ask my opinion, I'm pretty frank and tell them why "Luckies please"—me, at least. After all, there's an intimate relationship between a cigarette and my lips—and I'm very sensitive about my personal daintiness. Certainly I enjoy Luckies' delicious tobaccos and their mellow-mildness—but the comforting purity of "Toasting" is what I prize almost above everything else. And that is a woman's reason for saying "Luckies Please!"

Navy To Aid Silver Anniversary Lights Celebration

WATER TOURNEY JULY 22 TO BE OUTSTANDING

Regarded as the West's greatest illuminated water pageant, the Newport-Balboa Tournament of Lights, is now in its twenty-fifth year, and the 1933 parade to be staged in Newport Bay Saturday evening, July 22, will be worthy of a silver anniversary, according to word from the "lights" committee.

Two navy cruisers, the U. S. S. Chester and Salt Lake City, will be anchored off the Newport and Balboa ocean piers in honor of the event, and shore-boats from the two vessels will carry the public to and from the vessels during the visiting hours, both Saturday, July 22, and Sunday, July 23, it is announced.

The idea of a lighted water parade for Southern California was conceived on August 23, 1908, when John Scarpa, a gondolier brought from Italy by Abbot Kinney, founder of Venice, California, rowed his gondola from Venice to Newport Bay through the open sea, which was quite a feat.

He lighted his gondola with Japanese lanterns, had eight canoes lighted the same way and the first "water carnival" was held at the Orange county harbor. Ever since some similar parade has been held each year, but it has grown tremendously. About 15 years ago it was given the name Tournament of Lights by Commodore J. A. Beck, who managed it for several years, and last year it was estimated that 100,000 people viewed the spectacle along its five-mile course in the bay.

The central ideas of this pageant are beauty and illumination. Floats and boats of every description, from small canoes and row-boats to large floats and cruisers, enter the parade, and prizes are given in each division. Last year a magnificent float representing Mexico, with music and singing, entered by Sol Gonzales of Santa Ana, won the grand sweepstakes prize.

YOUNGER BOYS GOING TO Y. M. C. A. CAMP MONDAY

"Friendly Indians" and other younger boys of the Y. M. C. A. will make their start to Camp Osceola Monday morning at 8:30. It was announced today by D. H. Tibbals, boys' work secretary of the Santa Ana Y. This period of one week at camp is for boys 12 years of age and younger, and it is open to all such boys whether they are members of the Y. M. C. A. or not.

Baggage intended for camp should be at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening if possible, and in any case not later than Sunday evening, so that it may be packed early on Monday morning.

Word from the older boys now in camp at Osceola indicates an exceptionally fine season at that popular Y. M. C. A. resort. The annual hike to Jenks Lake was taken last Saturday, with R. H. McArthur acting as director. Monday brought an overnight hike to Big Bear, under the supervision of J. B. Wilbur.

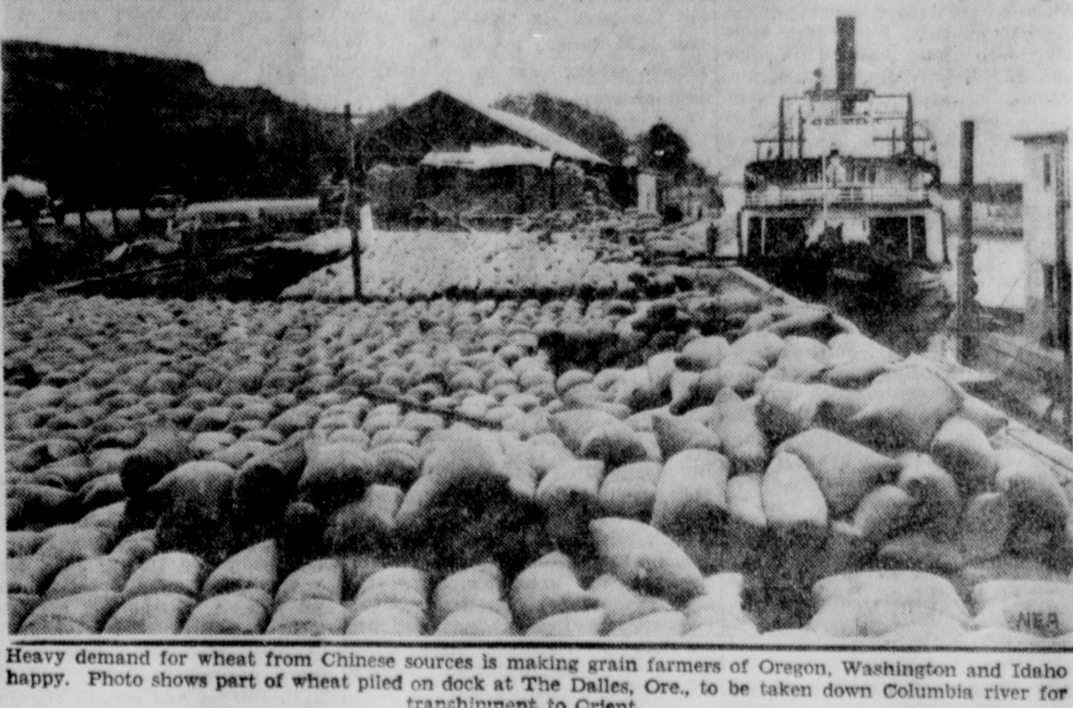

Four Santa Ana boys are serving on the Camp Council, Robert Kring, Frank Was, Harry Owings and Robert Speed are the councilors who help to direct the affairs. Walter Kring is serving for his second year as editor of the Osceola Grumbler, the daily newspaper of the camp. John Henderson is first custodian of the flag. Herbert Douglas, of Orange, is camp mayor, and during his absence on hikes, Lloyd Gibbs of Santa Ana takes his place.

Dick Horton has been called out for his blue rag, being the first ragged called. Ed Dews and Jay Skiles of Orange are also recommended.

Weather has been ideal, and fishing is excellent, according to the camp report. The campers will expect numerous visitors this week end, and they are reluctantly looking forward to returning home on Monday when the younger boys go in.

The United States paid Panama $10,000,000 for the Canal Zone rights, but this does not include an annual rental of $250,000.

BANK OFFICIAL TELLS OF TRIP TO SCOUT MOUNTAIN CAMP AND BENEFITS TO BOYS

C. L. Pritchard, trust officer of the First National bank, who spent a week end recently with his son, Donald, at Rokili, the Orange county Boy Scout camp in the San Bernardino mountains near Seven Oaks, today was warm in his praise of the camp and the work being accomplished.

Having always been an enthusiast for scouting, Pritchard reported he found a wonderful organization in charge of Rokili with Harrison E. White, Orange county Scout executive, as general director and supervisor, with a selected group of young Eagle Scouts, including Bob MacFarlane, J. Lester Boyle, Bill Brady, Paul Whipp and Jack Preston assisting.

Pritchard went on a 14-mile overnight hike with the boys while at camp, the night camp being established at Dollar lake, where a large glacier had formed from the winter snows and was gradually breaking off into the lake. This lake is within an hour's hike from the peak of Grayback.

"The attention of detail given the boys, and the protection of their health and comfort was very noticeable," Pritchard said in commenting on his trip.

Builds Character

"The daily routine of the camp life gives the boys personal character building, inspiration which consists of nature studies, wood and leather craft, and the bugle call at 6:30 in the morning brings the boys forth from a restful sleep in an altitude of 6500 feet above sea level, which is so essential for a boy who spends most of the year at sea level," he went on.

"Immediately following the boy's formation on the training and play campus, after the raising of the colors, the boys enter into setting up exercises and games, followed by line formation for entering the mess hall, where breakfast consisting of healthful, nourishing food, such as cocoa and milk for drink, fresh fruits, breakfast foods, hot cakes and syrup, is served. The boys on entering the dining room are inspected by Eagle Scouts as to personal appearance, such as hair and clean face and hands.

Rated For Neatness

"The tables in the mess hall accommodate eight boys to each table, and the tables are numbered. Each day the cabins, which house eight boys, are inspected, and given a rating, being five points for yard appearance immediately surrounding the cabin, five points for appearance of bunk, including the making of the beds which is done by the boys, five points for cleanliness of the floor of the cabin, and five points for orderly care of clothes and personal effects of the boys. The members of the cabin receiving 20 points for the day are seated at table No. 1 for the following day; the cabin receiving the next lower points at table No. 2 and so on down as to grade of credits. Many of the boys told me that this was a novelty to them, and they were

COLLINS URGES SUPPORT FOR ROOSEVELT

Wholehearted support of President Roosevelt in his herculean task of bringing the nation out of the mire of depression and back on the road of economic recovery, was urged by Congressman Sam L. Collins, representing this district, in a talk made last night before the Jack Fisher chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, held at the City Hall on East Fourth street.

It was Congressman Collins' first formal appearance before a veteran body since returning here from Washington where, as a representative of this district, he voted on the various bills that were introduced in the national legislature. In addition to members of the D. A. V. organization, the audience included a large number of Legionnaires and Spanish-American war veterans.

Explaining his stand on veteran legislation, the speaker, who was introduced by Attorney Z. B. West, made it plain to his audience that his vote on veteran measures had not been prompted by any partiality for cause of the veterans but for reasons that were bound up with the best interests of the district he represented.

He went on to say that he had supported President Roosevelt's program on all measures except the Beer bill. In this connection, he pointed out, however, that while he had not been able to follow the President in his views on these two measures, he stood squarely behind the President's program of economic recovery.

Another point brought out by the national legislator, referring to his own record in Washington, was that while his sympathies naturally were with the cause of his "buddies" in their efforts to obtain proper relief at the hands of the national government, he considered it his duty to represent the entire district and not any particular group or interest.

Congressman Collins advised the veterans to reconcile themselves to the fact that the Veterans Economy act had been passed and had become the law of the land, and therefore make the best of it until changed by further legislation.

"Some good is bound to come out of this law," he declared, adding there had been many abuses under the new system which needed correction.

The signers of the Declaration of Independence were mostly young men; John Hancock, president of the Congress, was only 29.

R.F.C. CREW OF 28 STARTS ON CITY BOWL JOB

With 28 workers from the R. F. C. starting work this morning, progress on the new bleachers at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl is ahead of schedule and City Engineer J. L. McBride is confident that the work will be completed in plenty of time for the Fiesta del Oro on July 27, 28 and 29.

The foundation piers and part of the framework has been erected and most of the preliminary work completed. A large amount of lumber taken from the old city hall has been cut up and treated for use in the bleachers and will reduce the cost of the structure considerably, McBride declared. H. M. Neighbors of the city engineer's office is supervising the work.

When the work was started last week, funds from the R. F. C. were not available and a minimum wage scale for labor was set up and skilled men hired. When the R. F. C. appropriation made it possible to allocate men to the bleachers, originally an R. F. C. project, it was necessary to replace the first workers with the unemployed crews.

WHAT stirs a young man's fancy in the summer-time? Offhand, we'd say a long, tall cooling drink. (That goes for the ladies too!) • And that brings us to the purpose of Canada Dry in life . . . to make a good long, tall drink taste better. For it doesn't merely mix . . . it blends! All by itself, too, it has a piquancy and delicious flavor that have never yet been matched. That's why it's so cooling.

SENATOR DISCUSSES METHODS OF RAISING STATE TAXES AT MEETING OF ORANGE LIONS

ORANGE, July 13.—The methods which may be selected to state funds under the provisions of the Riley-Stewart tax bill were related yesterday by Senator Nels T. Edwards at the meeting of the Lions club. John Christiansen was program chairman, introducing Senator Edwards and Assemblyman J. B. Utt, who told of legislative business to come before the assembly at an adjourned session.

Edwards is one of the members of the committee to devise the taxation plan which he stated probably would take the form of a general sales tax. A gross income tax of one per cent on incomes over $1000 has been suggested the speaker said and this he stated would bring $1,500,000 to the state. Luxury taxes would bring about $18,000,000 a year, Edwards said.

The speaker declared that in two years the state would face a greater deficit than at present as that time utilities would come under general taxation under the Riley plan. The present deficit had been caused, he said, by the drop in gross incomes of the public utility companies from which a large part of the state's income is derived.

Interesting side light of proceedings in the senate were revealed in the course of the talk and the senator declared that the bill which removed a large number of attorneys from the state's patronage and which saved the state $100,000, had been signed by mistake by the governor who had opposed the bill.

Utt revealed workings of the assembly during the past session of the legislature and spoke especially of vetoed bills which are to come up for consideration. The assemblyman said that he believed he would support the governor's veto of the reduction of salaries of state employees as the future value of the dollar could not be foretold owing to federal activities. Commodity prices already have advanced about 15 per cent, the speaker declared.

The speaker stated that he believed that if other county officials received a cut in salary that it would have been just to have cut

THE APPROVAL EXPRESSED BY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MOTORISTS IS MOST GRATIFYING

When we put out the new "Fortified" Gilmore Red Lion gasoline three weeks ago, I was hopefully expecting a generous response on the part of the motoring public, but because of the flamboyant gasoline advertising flooding the country, I little dreamed of the enthusiasm with which it would be accepted.

I told you it was 2 years ahead in Anti-Knock Horsepower, and I felt positive it would do all we claimed for it. Now, I know that we haven't "over-sold" it.

So many motorists have used it and they are practically unanimous in its praise. The general approval expressed by continued patronage is gratifying to me.

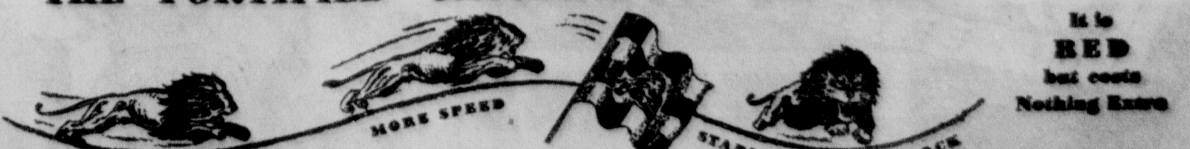

Sincerely yours,

THE TINYMITES

"The skinnyout birds are real slick. They've pulled off quite a clever trick in letting us drag in the water," Duncy loudly cried. "I think, though, that we've had enough. The water's getting rather rough. I wish we'd rise up in the air and have another ride."

It seemed the two birds understood. They rose as quickly as they could and once more all the Tinymites were being whizzed through space.

"Gee, how long is this going to last? I wish they wouldn't go so fast," said Dotty. "You would think that both the birds were in a race."

"Aw, this is fun," cried Windy. "I am used to sailing through the sky. The birds will soon tire out, themselves, and then they'll have to stop."

"Where're they rest, we'll do the same. We're bound to reach some

THREE WELLS STARTED ALONG OCEAN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 13.—Standard Oil moved out today to defend its "strip" lease of 6200 feet, along the ocean front, formerly a part of the Pacific Electric highway. Standard has started three wells, all new from the grass roots. The wells will be known as Standard B-1A and Pacific Electric Nos. 17 and 18. One well will be on the barley field or B lease, the other two will be on the railroad right of way.

The wells will parallel the strip lease owned by the city and which is now in litigation in the superior court at Santa Ana. The Standard has a temporary injunction against the city, preventing the city from drilling, but "in-the-mean-time" Standard starts three new wells together the previous oil.

The wells Standard is drilling will provide employment for additional men in the field and will also be intended as offset wells for the big gushers in the town lot field, which are supposed to be reaching out for the back entrance into the rich tideland and Ocean highway treasure house.

GARDEN GROVE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NAMES DIRECTORS

GARDEN GROVE, July 13.—New directors for the ensuing year of the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce were elected at the regular monthly meeting held in the chamber of commerce hall Tuesday evening. Those elected were Charles Lake, F. A. Monroe, E. R. Schneider, Irvine German, Dr. C. C. Violet, W. V. Brady, J. G. Allen, J. C. Mitchell, W. O. Brandy, E. M. Dozier, Ray C. Johnson, H. E. Yockey and H. D. Adams. Mr. Adams and Mr. Schneider replace S. W. Holt and L. A. Frink.

After the meeting had adjourned the directors met and elected the following officers: President, H. D. Adams; Vice president, W. V. Brady; Secretary, R. E. Johnson; Treasurer, F. A. Monroe; Charles Lake is the outgoing president and Dr. C. C. Violet the outgoing vice president.

W. V. Brady reported for the billboard committee, stating that a group of business men had met with the board of supervisors and learned that an ordinance would be enacted as soon as the new state bill in regard to billboards becomes effective. At the last meeting of the chamber a resolution was adopted recommending that all signs in the business district be removed.

The distribution of hand bills was discussed and E. J. Tobias, local merchant and fire chief, announced that by the county ordinance hand bills can only be thrown upon porches or put in the doors.

L. L. Dolg, principal of the high school, reported that the $22,000 high school bonds had not been sold and a request had been made that the state inspector inspect the administration building before it could be rebuilt. If the bonds are not sold there had been offers of loans on the bonds for rebuilding the building, he stated.

According to Dr. Jarvis, he had turned out every light and gas jet just before leaving and he can give no explanation of the origin of the fire.

The Sewell block in which the doctor has his office is owned by Mrs. Frank Campbell. Damage to the building will probably reach $500. It houses the Masonic hall, the dental offices and several other offices not now occupied.

FIRE CAUSES $500 LOSS IN BREA EDIFICE

BREA, July 13.—Fire, breaking out in the laboratory of the dental offices of Dr. C. C. Jarvis last evening, threatened the destruction of the entire block but was finally subdued by the Brea municipal fire department.

The laboratory, containing the doctor's X-ray equipment, materials and supplies, and an adjoining room containing his papers and accounts, were destroyed and the woodwork and walls of these rooms ruined. Smoke filled the entire second floor of the building in which the office was located and smoke and water coming through the ceiling of the Hubbard Hardware store and Le-Gro's drug store beneath, made considerable of a mess in those rooms.

Dr. Jarvis had just locked his office and was in his car on his way to his home when the alarm was turned in by some one on the street. At first it was thought the doctor was in his office and the firemen rushed to assist him, but he was discovered on the street.

Benefit for Club Will Be Staged

NEWPORT WILL ENTER FIESTA AT LAGUNA TO BE MOVED SOON

NEWPORT BEACH, July 13.—Newport Beach will be represented in the parade to be staged in Santa Ana July 27 in connection with the Fiesta del Oro at the county seat July 27, 28 and 29, it was decided by directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, meeting at the American Legion clubhouse last night.

This co-operation will be extended because it is felt that the Fiesta del Oro is a county event and also because of the hearty co-operation being shown by Santa Ana organizations in the 25th annual Tournament of Lights here July 23. Something typical of the harbor district will be placed in the Santa Ana parade, it was stated.

Lew H. Wallace, director of the Newport Harbor chamber, was voted a life membership at last night's meeting.

Harry Williamson, chairman of the Tournament of Lights committee, reported that prospects are very good for the best parade in the history of the lights, if all the entries promised actually come in.

The fact that two navy cruisers will be anchored off the Newport and Balboa piers will attract many people who wish to visit the ships on Saturday, July 22, and Sunday, July 23, he said, as many thousands who wished to see the Milwaukee, which was here July 4, were disappointed because the boats were filled to capacity.

Bible School May Open Monday

WINTERSBURG, July 13.—It is hoped that the Summer Vacation Bible school of the Wintersburg Methodist church will open next Monday. The first date set for the school had to be cancelled owing to the epidemic of illness in the community and the Monday opening depends on the number of cases reported at that time.

Four diseases, measles, mumps, scarlet fever and whooping cough, have all been prevalent in the community since the opening of last fall's school term.

MAN BECOMES INTOXICATED ON THREE BOTTLES OF BEER

LAGUNA BEACH, July 13.—Although a close friend told the police he had consumed only three bottles of 3.2 beer, H. H. Cammann Jr., prominent young man from Pasadena and living at 1146 Wokvna Drive, in that city, created a scene on the beach when yesterday when he "passed out cold."

After applying first aid methods, Chief Lifeguard Richard Malone called Dr. A. H. Wightman, president of the Life Saving Corps, who pronounced the man intoxicated. A huge crowd of bathers, including hundreds of women and children, gathered at the scene and saw the Pasadena man strapped into a stretcher and carried through the streets to the police station.

After Dr. Wightman had signed a certificate that he was "moderately intoxicated," Chief of Police Abe W. Johnson looked Cammann up on a charge of intoxication and he was carried back to the cell in a stretcher. Judge C. C. (Gavy) Cravath set the bail and fine at five dollars and after Cammann had spent several hours in a cell he was released, the amount of the fine having been paid by a friend.

Week-end MURDER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Linda Averill believes her elderly cousin, Amos Peabody, was murdered when he fell from the second story balcony of the Averill's Long Island home because of a few words he gaped before his death. Linda rushes upstairs. Some one tries to strangle her and she faints. There are four guests in the house—all suspects of the crime. They are: Mr. Statlander, business associate of Tom; Averill, Captain Deane, handsome Belgian; Marvin Pratt, former suitor of Linda's; and Lian Shaughnessy, Irish writer. Since there is no evidence on which to base an arrest, Linda and Tom, her husband, agree they must keep the four men in the house until they have discovered who is guilty. They pretend to believe the death was an accident. They are aided in their plan when Dr. Boyle, medical examiner, sends word that every one must remain until he has questioned them. Boyle is on a fishing trip and can not return for several hours.

Linda finds the towel with which the attempt was made to strangle her—identified by a smear of Rosie's ointment. She learns that Rosie, the maid, has promised to launder a shirt for Shaughnessy. Tom believes this shirt may be an important clue and goes to have a look at it. Shaughnessy discovers his quarters have been searched. To last matters right Linda tells Shaughnessy the whole story and asks him to help untangle the mystery of her cousin's death.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIII

"And whilst to you!" He beckoned her close and whispered, "Perhaps—mind you, perhaps—I'm telling you something I've just thought me of—that may be a clue and a right good one too. Whilst! Don't stir! I'll be back the very next minute to this one!"

And, the dressing gown flapping about his knees, he disappeared into the little room beyond.

"Tom, I couldn't help it. We were cornered, and frankness was the only thing possible! It had to be done at once, or—even if he didn't go—we couldn't have gained back the ground we lost when he got on to your search of his place."

It was what Linda had hoped for—a brief moment alone with her husband before they faced, together, the talk with the man to whom she had revealed their secret. In the kitchen, cracking ice and opening ginger ale bottles, while from the terrace came the murmur of voices, she and Tom, and Statlander talked apologetically, Linda hastily rose to justify herself—to overcome the horror with which he had greeted her confession of what she had done.

"It was the only thing to do, Tom—you must see that!"

"Well—" he rallied a little but still was far from convinced. "At least we don't have to tell him everything."

"I'm sure he didn't do it," Linda announced staunchly.

"You're easy, Binks. No need to splutter! This proves it. He'll know I'm more spectral and he's had time to prepare his story. Still, so have I. Leave this to me, please. I'm sorry it happened but I guess you're right. Better be out in the open. At least he'll feel safe and if we handle him right there's no chance now of his bolting. That would be a confession and he's no such fool."

"Then you still think he might be the one? Even after what Rosie said? She said the spots were liquor and grass stains—and she saw them. We didn't."

"Doesn't affect the issue one way or another. We've simply lost that clue, but there are others. Rosie may have been coached in her story, and been afraid to tell you the entire truth."

"She acted frightened, but more over taking your shirt and being found out."

"Well she might!" Tom's jaw set. He was not as forgiving as Linda over this. "But—carry on, Binks! We can't stay here all night. Statlander's due for an early bed. I gather the last two nights have been unusually gay for one of his settled ways. And, if I'm any judge, he and Shaughnessy don't love each other much. So get a move on and we'll start him off. That'll leave the way clear for the Modern Irish Fairy Tale I feel in my bones we're going to hear."

"So that's the story!"

It was half an hour later. Tom sat back, lighting a new cigarette. Shaughnessy puffed thoughtfully at his pipe and Linda lay motionless in the long chair, thinking how awfully Tom had condensed the day's happenings and wondering what would be the other man's first words. Certainly Tom had given no indication other than that he had completely accepted the tale of the soiled shirt, while his appeal to their guest to tell of anything out of the way that he might have noticed was so put as to cleverly flatter the other.

Tom himself was first to break the silence and he did so with a sudden burst of laughter, followed by scattered talk and exclamation, showed that the little group in the drawing room had paused in their game to enjoy the refreshments he had brought them on his way out to the terrace.

"Of course you are now in our secret," Mr. Shaughnessy. You know that it is imperative that we keep our house party together until we fasten this thing on the man who did it. Today we've made progress—but not enough. The medical examiner's coming—or threatened coming—helped us out and as a result everyone's staying over night. Tonight or tomorrow at breakfast my wife and I will invite each one of you to finish out the week-end."

"And if any of us refuse?"

"I shall turn the matter over to the police," Tom spoke with decision and Linda started in surprise. So absorbed was she in their guest, so sure they and they alone could solve the mystery, that since their first talk she had not even considered the possibility of failure. "I will be the first then to agree to stay!" The Irishman laughed but with an edge to it. "Faith, I can do little else. As well stay by own will as by that of the police."

"And I must ask, too," continued Tom, "that when I extend the invitation in the morning, if it is done when you all come together, you accept as if it came for the first time. You might also help by urging the others to do so if any one seems at all reluctant."

The Irishman made a sound that could pass for acquiescence—but it was by no means cordial. "And now," he asked, "will you favor me by doing one thing? Assume for the time being that 'twas me. Please separate out all the clues that point elsewhere and state the case against me as if you were sure that I was the guilty person."

There was a moment's silence. Linda felt suspense vibrating in the still air. Shaughnessy had spoken courteously but with determination. Tom must now make up his mind whether to answer with perfect frankness or whether to continue his policy of seeming to tell everything without giving certain definite information. While he hesitated, the Irishman leaned forward and as a match was struck Linda caught the gleam in the gray, dark-lashed eyes. There was defiance in them—almost bravado—and in the twist of his lips, too.

"You're wondering what to say." In the dark that followed the match's flare it was impossible to catch his expression. "Will it help you, Mr. Averill, if I give you my word? I swear I will not leave here nor attempt to communicate—I believe that is the phrase—(Yes, there was mockery in his tone!)—with anyone until you find the murderer or turn the affair over to the police."

"Yes," Tom answered slowly. Evidently he was trying to go behind the words to the man's mind. If he was guilty this was certainly the line for him to take; if innocent—well, what other was there for him then? "Yes," the second affirmative came quickly, firmly, and Linda knew her husband had made his decision. She waited breathless.

"Mr. Shaughnessy—this is what leads suspicion to you. Go back to the first night you were here. At the dinner table you took issue—violently—with Mr. Peabody. Frankly, I have never seen one guest show such open personal animosity for another in the house of a mutual host. It was the sort of outburst that goes before physical violence. We were all most unfavorably impressed by it."

Linda felt a little thrill of pride at Tom's courage. He spoke clearly and to the point. The Irishman was tense, she knew, his easily aroused temper barely held in check. Tom made no concessions—the gloves were off.

"The following morning you will remember we discovered the death of our little dog, Bunty. You came from the garage bringing your own breakfast tray, instead of leaving it, as would be natural, for the maid to collect. You spoke of propitiating the dog and mentioned that she had bothered you when you had retired the night before. At the moment, we took the statement at face value. Later I remembered that when you left the house Thursday night I had walked to the garage with you and seen you start upstairs. Therefore if you encountered the dog you must have come out later, for some reason of your own. You lied about what seemed unimportant—something we would never have known of one way or the other without your deliberate introduction of the subject."

"Check one lie, motive unknown, and absence of motive for my leaving the garage again," Shaughnessy spoke soberly; his anger had given place to a certain wary tension.

"Also the possibility—after you admitted trouble with the dog—that she interfered with you sufficiently to rouse your extremely quick and uncontrolled temper to the point of picking her up and slinging her against the stone gate posts."

Linda caught her breath audibly and heard the muttered exclamation that broke from the Irishman. It might mean anything, that wordless sound in the concealing dark.

"Then at the dance you completely disappeared. Pardon me if I use the phrase, Shaughnessy, but I had put you down as something of a ladies' man. Certainly you showed no aversion for the sex and they seemed decidedly attracted to you. Yet at a time when you might have been expected to shine you evaporated into thin air. Being sober and well-groomed when you arrived at the Club, you appeared hours later, just as the party was breaking up, decidedly the worse for drink, your coat covered with pine needles and dust, and your general effect very disheveled indeed."

"Of course none of this has the slightest bearing upon the fact that your estimable cousin tumbled off the balcony in the clear light of day the next morning," remarked Shaughnessy coldly. Linda, who had winced at Tom's explicit wording, was surprised that the man had not already lashed himself into a tempest of fury.

"Only as it supplies the background—emotional, temperamental, what you will—for the events of today."

"You are one of those amateur detectives who base their theories on the temperament—the psychological make-up of their victims?" It was an open sneer.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER AT 94

Each recurring birthday of America's richest man calls out increasing publicity. Never in his life has John D. Rockefeller furnished more interesting copy for the newspapers and reading for the public. Every detail of his movements on his birthday is noted. What he had for breakfast, lunch and dinner is set before the curious readers. The size of his birthday cake, and the way the candles are arranged on the cake, are all detailed. A complete description of his estate at Ponchartraine Hill in Tarrytown, N. Y., is given, together with how much it cost, how much he spent on it last year, the number of people it requires to run it, and a dozen or more other details.

There is something behind that interest. A generation ago, Mr. Rockefeller was not very well thought of by the people of the country generally. Those were the days when Henry D. Lloyd published his "Wealth and Commonweal," and Ida Tarbell published her life of Mr. Rockefeller, in which these two writers held up to virile criticism the sins of Standard Oil and its founder. Those were the days of the "tainted money" controversy, when it was looked upon as immoral for any religious organization to solicit gifts from Mr. Rockefeller.

All this is past history. Mr. Rockefeller has since become a great philanthropist. The so-called "tainted money" has been set to work for human betterment in every department of human activity. It has been reported, but we cannot vouch for the truth of the matter, that Mr. Rockefeller then stated that he did not want to die the most hated man in the country. At any rate, Mr. Rockefeller finds himself in a kinder world at 94 than he lived in a generation ago. It is much to the credit of Mr. Rockefeller that he has dispensed his gifts so lavishly. It is much more to his credit to have a son such as he has, who has passed up the lesser things so many rich men's sons seek after, and turns entirely to works of mercy and humanity. It is with a genuine sincerity that so many of Mr. Rockefeller's countrymen congratulate him on another birthday, and wish him as many happy returns of the day as he can enjoy.

NIRA AND FRA

The two acts of the new administration which are basic in the plan of the "New Deal," are the National Industrial Recovery Act and the Farm Relief Act. They are destined to make history as did the British Defense of the Realm Act during the Great War, commonly referred to as Dora by all Englishmen.

So Nira and Fra are to play an important part in the reconstruction of American industry and American agriculture if the expectation of those who framed these important acts shall be realized. They express an entirely new departure in our economic system. They carry government into business to an extent never anticipated by those who have been advocating a "rugged individualism." Mild indeed has been the intrusion of government into business, against which the laissez-faire industrialists have been protesting through chambers of commerce and manufacturers' associations hitherto.

Suddenly the fear of government intrusion into business has disappeared. The greatest industrialists are working together with the government to regulate business as it has never before been regulated in times of peace. A great economic emergency has revealed the weakness of unregulated control and anarchy in business. Not even in war time has governmental control been more complete and far-reaching. The codes which are being formulated by the various industries, to give the little fellow in business a chance beside the big fellow, provide not only for harmonious action between employers, but between employers and workers also.

THE "TENTH WONDER" OF THE WORLD

Bunny Mills, five year old Los Angeles boy, had a metal wheel removed from his esophagus, today. We hope the operation was successful. He had entertained the wheel for three years now and it must almost have become a part of him. But it retained its identity as a foreign substance, by moving up and down in the esophagus.

The reactions of children is the tenth wonder of the world, as old Trader Horn would say. Now they become deathly sick when they swallow a bit of paper. And again they apparently thrive on the most horrifying substances which they swallow. Bunny Mills didn't thrive on the metal wheel. His mother, by his condition, which was brought about by the wheel, was forced to pursue it through a number of doctors' offices before it was located.

DISMISSED CIVIL SERVICE WORKERS TO BE PROVIDED FOR

One of the more critical of the weeklies recently bitterly attacked President Roosevelt, whom they claimed was making gestures for the relief of unemployment, while at the same time thousands were being dismissed from their jobs. There are said to be eight thousand dismissed civil service employees. Whether or not the attack had anything to do with it, it is stated in the news today that the President told newspaper men yesterday that employees needed for the various emergency agencies will be selected from among these eight thousand dismissed civil service workers.

GOOD NEWS FROM YOUNGSTOWN

Just for the joy of thinking about it let us dwell a bit upon news from Youngstown, Ohio. It is grand and glorious. We would like to write about it all morning, and tell about it the rest of the day.

Youngstown was hit hard by the depression several years ago. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company closed down and the life was crushed right out of Youngstown, and, in fact, the whole valley. Sometime ago the steel plant opened up and today it is running almost at full capacity. Last month the Youngstown charities released eight thousand persons from their rolls.

But that is only one of the lesser benefits of the improvement. Some of the people who were existing on charity two months ago are today driving around in new cars, with their old bills paid and new clothes. And are they happy! And where the good news redounds to our own more than altruistic interest, is the fact that the purchases made by the reemployed steel workers are making employment for people elsewhere.

FRENCH TRADERS IN LONDON

The French traders at the World Economic Conference who brought forward a plan for exchange with the United States, one with a threat to it, had evidently not heard of California. The overtures were to the effect that if Americans revived the French wine business France would continue to consume American wheat and cotton. Otherwise France would grow cotton in her colonies. The French people are not good psychologists. A proposition backed by a threat to a nation of people with as large an infusion of Irish as this one has is worse than a red flag before a bull.

Anyhow the Americans to whom the French approached did not take the proposition seriously. And ridicule is devastating.

BEFORE 1492

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, is authority for the interesting statement that Anadyrsk, on the Anadyrsk river, the town from which came the news of Matern's safety, was a trading post before Columbus discovered America. Chinese goods were passed through the post into the territory which is now Alaska.

Mr. Stefansson further states that the Eskimos obtained their "smokes" through Anadyrsk. Tobacco was shipped from America to China and found its way through Anadyrsk. Some of the tiniest insignificant-appearing settlements have become eligible for every intelligence test through round the world flights and arctic explorers.

It is surprising to discover that five hundred years ago Anadyrsk was a trading center.

Growth in Population Shows Marked Slowing

San Bernardino Sun
We are getting more and more exclusive in this country. During the fiscal years ending June 30, only about 8,000 passports were granted for immigrants. The laws would have permitted the entry of nearly 154,000. That number itself would have been a trifle compared with the hordes we used to let in before the war.

So our population gains now are nearly all native births. And here, too, there is a shrinkage. The net result of admissions, births and leakages across our borders is a current gain of about 1,000,000 a year. That is less than 1 per cent.

Prophesies of a stabilized population by 1940 or 1950 or 1960 may be taken with a spoonful of salt. Nevertheless we are plainly slowing down. There isn't much visible gain nowadays except in thriving communities, and they gain largely from others within our own borders. We are a migrant people.

It is going to be a long, long time before the country is filled up. We learn to support ourselves on less area. He would be a jingo, not an economist, who called for more territory now. We can let large areas revert to forests, a process already started by Federal Government and some states.

Easiest Part of Job

San Francisco Chronicle
All that now remains for the Bay Bridge project is to build the bridge. That, paradoxically, is the simplest problem in this as in other enterprises. It reduces to terms of driving rivets—more rivets and longer pieces of steel for a long bridge than a short one. But before the first rivet is driven the builders know where the last one is going.

It is the maneuvering, negotiating, planning, legislating and financing that eat up time. The adjustment of official, community and personal problems, the crystallizing of public opinion in the building of the real foundation for a project.

It would be ideal, of course, if human beings could put all their energies into actual production. If when a job is waiting to be done they could just fly at it and get it done. But that is not the way that things great or small are achieved in human affairs. It takes more time and thought to plan a meal and assemble the ingredients than it does to cook the food. It takes longer to get ready for a fishing trip and get to the water than it does to take a fish off the hook. A scene that it has taken weeks to build and rehearse is shot by a motion picture camera in ten minutes.

The rule applies to gigantic works as well as to small affairs in the individual's daily life. When we get down to actual construction the most complicated details have been solved. What remains now is to build the bridge. That is the simplest part of all the big job.

A Record Achievement

Pomona Progress-Bulletin
One of the brightest achievements of the U. S. War Department seems to have been recorded in connection with the enrollment and mobilization of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Robert Fechner, director of the emergency conservation corps, reveals that the program laid down by President Roosevelt has been carried out to the letter. More than 274,000 young men have been enrolled in the forestry corps, and upwards of 250,000 of them are now in the corps' 1300 work camps.

Thus in three months more men have been enlisted and put in camps than was the case in the first three months of American participation in the World War.

GIVING THE ROMANS A HAND

The Romans were quite a rough people
In the days when their nation was great;
By employing the right
That is vested in night
They built up a powerful state.
Their rulers were ruthless and cruel
And skilled in the practice of craft.
But they had one stronghold—
They were never controlled
By the hankering hunger for graft.

If a crooked contractor attempted
To feather his personal nest,
He was sternly reproved,
And his head was removed
At the Building Director's request.
When a pipe line that wouldn't hold water
Was built by a shrewd profiteer,
An order of court
Cut exceedingly short
His too avaricious career.

Though scarred by the wind and the weather
The ruins of Rome still remain;
All around one they rise
To bear witness how wise
Was many an emperor's reign.
They may have been ruthless and cruel
But they had a rough, hard-headed way
Of making it clear
Through the realm, far and near,
That the practice of graft wouldn't pay.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

OUTLOOK FOR EXECUTIVE POWER

For some weeks now the nation has been thrilled by the stirring show that has been staged in Washington.

After a period of colorless inaction, or what seemed inaction to the people generally, the air of the capital went suddenly electric with executive conquests of new powers.

It was as if a war were on! Congress confined itself to saying the goals it wanted the nation to attain and to charting the broad path of policy for reaching these goals, and then gave to President Roosevelt blanket powers for reaching them.

This, as I stated yesterday, seems to me to be in line with a needed evolution in modern democratic government.

It is all right in a simple civilization to have legislative bodies deal in detail with the management of the life of state or nation.

It is suicidal when the social and economic orders have become as complicated as ours have become. Granted the capacity and statesmanship that is necessary in the executive branch of a government, we should see amazing advance towards recovery and stabilization in the months immediately ahead.

I am frankly disturbed, however, by the fact that this grant of powers is for so short a time.

At the end of the emergency grant of powers to the president, we may see a scramble for the re-assumption of legislative rights in all the details of legislation and a sweeping renaissance of congressional interference with detailed administration.

It is not inconceivable that we may make amazing headway for a couple of years and then experience a set-back as a result of the re-emergence of all the evils of our utterly outworn party system of government in congress.

Here is a task for leadership. Between now and the end of the emergency grant of executive power we should be reconsidering our whole scheme of executive and legislative authority with a view to making an intelligent permanent readjustment.

A HAIRCUT

Boys as well as girls go through a period of hero worship during adolescence. This is a fine thing for them if the hero is one that stimulates them to fine action, achievement. Sometimes we can direct a child to a fine pattern of manhood and he makes a hero out of somebody who is truly heroic. That is a piece of good luck for everybody, a true occasion for thanksgiving.

The hero worshipping days are full of humor for those who look on. Full of irritation, too, if one's funny bone is not in good form. Gerald was sixteen, about six feet tall and as slim as a bean pole. He was a handsome boy, who attracted the attention of all the girls on the block when he passed by. But he had no eyes for them. He was worshipping a star of great magnitude, a national athlete who had won many medals and whose picture appeared on the sporting pages of every newspaper in the country at least once a week, usually oftener.

This hero was all right. Healthy, a good sort, skilled in his field, respected as a man as well as a sportsman. He had a headful of curly hair and evidently cherished it, for he wore it long, so long that his characteristic gesture, when in action, was shaking his head to keep the tumbling curls out of his eyes and mouth. Gerald copied his model, hair and all. Unfortunately his hair had no hint of curl. Straight as an Indian's and as black, it hung in locks about his collar and over his brow. He decided to do something about it, and he did. He curled his hair with curling tongs.

"Good gracious, me, what is this?" demanded his outraged father. "Are you out of your head or what? Mother, did you see this freak? This lunatic? This Barnum's what-is-it? What do you mean by this, you young nit-wit?"

"It's my hair, isn't it? Can't I do what I like with my own hair? I have to wear it, don't I? If I can't do what I want to with my own hair, I'm going away from here. I won't be treated like this. I'm no baby. I'm a young man. I'm entitled to my freedom. I'm entitled to comb my hair this way I like. I'm—"

"Gerald, go upstairs and wash the curl out of your hair. Don't talk any more. And don't come down again until your father has gone to the office. He isn't used to your ways as I am. You frightened him. Now just go on upstairs and we'll talk about this later."

"What is the meaning of it? Is he cracked or what?" "Don't fly in the air that way. He's crazy about that athlete whose pictures he has hung all over his room. He wanted to have hair like his, long and curly, so he must have tried to curl his hair this afternoon. You leave him to me and do try not to hurt his feelings just now."

"All right, all right, but please take him out of curl papers. I don't think I can stand it." A lot of things adolescent boys do are akin to curl papers. They have a meaning for them that you cannot glimpse, so try to be patient and see through the grotesque gestures to the motive that prompts them. Usually it is much better than its expression would lead us to suspect at first glance.
